

Dolbey's End-to-End ICD-10 Solutions

Dolbey has put a wider lens on the view of preparing for ICD-10. The challenge is not just coding, it is a documentation problem. That is why Dolbey is so uniquely qualified to be your ICD-10 solution partner. Our solutions start at the point that documentation is being created - the ICD-10 epicenter. Fusion Voice® and Fusion Expert® provide both the dictation and speech recognition applications that touch the physician first. This extends through transcription to case management for clinical documentation improvement and finally with coding using Fusion CAC™ for computer-assisted coding. End-to-end, Dolbey has your solution.

As a provider of solutions that touch every step of the documentation and coding process, Dolbey stands alone as your partner in providing unique ICD-10 solutions.

Dolbey's End-to-End Solutions for ICD-10 Readiness

The Fusion Voice dictation management system is an enterprise-wide solution that now offers the patent-pending DocAssist™ application to guide physicians toward documenting accurate ICD-10 PCS codes by telephone or PC.

Fusion Expert is front-end speech recognition for real-time creation of reports for all clinical applications. Equipped with DocAssist, physicians are prompted for missing report information, resulting in the correct ICD-10 PCS code.

Extended Query Link or EQL™ is a powerful physician query solution that combines the features of Fusion CAC in creating templates, performing queries and tracking results with the ease and accessibility of Fusion Voice and Fusion Expert.

The natural language processing power of Fusion CAC pre-codes charts as they are being created. Case management/ CDI can rely on these codes to identify problems before the patient is gone. Coders experience increases in productivity and efficiency which is key to a revenue-neutral transition to ICD-10.

Dolbey solutions orchestrate an ICD-10 documentation strategy combined with a computer-assisted coding solution for the peak of preparedness. Call today for more information.
